The museum, also known as the Istana (Sultanate Palace), is a replica of Sultan Mansur Shah's palace, the famous Sultan who ruled Melaka from 1456 to 1477.

The Proclamation of Independence Memorial is a must visit venue for those who wish to get an in-depth view on the events leading up to Malaysia's Independence Day.

The Portuguese colonized Melaka from 1511 to 1641. The first thing they did was build a fort overlooking the river, calling it A'Famosa.

St Paul's Hill is also known as Bukit Saint Paul. It sits on the hill just behind the A'Famosa Fort. Built in 1571 by the Portuguese and regularly visited by St. Francis Xavier from China.

Flor de la Mar was a Portuguese nau (carrack) of 400 tons, which over nine years participated in decisive events in the Indian Ocean until her sinking in November 1511. A replica of the Flor de la Mar is housed at the Maritime Museum in Malacca.
